

Svendborg, Feb 28 2024

Privacy Policy - The Why Not Lab

We are not interested in collecting any personal information. We believe such information is yours and yours alone. We do not store or transmit your personal details, nor do we include any advertising or analytics software that talks to third parties.

We do not collect marketing, analytics or functional data on our visitors.

No personal data shared with us, for example when using our contact form, will be given to any third party, under any circumstances. Your data will also never be used by us for any purpose without specific permission.

Email

If you email us for support or other feedback, the emails with email addresses will be retained for quality assurance purposes. The email addresses will be used only to reply to the concerns or suggestions raised and will never be used for any marketing purpose.

Disclosure of Personal Information

We will not disclose your information to any third party except where required by law. We require a valid legal process to compel the disclosure of user data to the government; such as a legitimate and properly scoped court order, or a search warrant supported by probable cause and issued by an appropriate law enforcement authority. We interpret requests narrowly, and we will oppose unlawful or overbroad requests for specific user data.

Contacting Us

If you have any questions regarding this privacy policy, you can email info@thewhynotlab.com

Changes to This Notice

This notice is liable to change, as the data protection regime evolves. We will revise the published notice on our website, as well as keep a record of the changes.